Alex's practice encompasses all aspects of business crime and extradition.

Alex is recommended by the legal directories as a leading Silk in a total of eight areas, including crime, criminal fraud, business & regulatory crime (including global investigations) and financial crime (individuals and corporates). He is also recommended in international crime and extradition.

BUSINESS CRIME & EXTRADITION

Previously a derivatives trader in the City who read Mathematics at Cambridge University, Alex is instructed in a wide variety of commercial and business crime cases: corporate manslaughter, corruption, cartels, frauds of all kinds, sanctions offences, insider dealing, financial services and other regulatory offences.

He represents a wide range of bodies and persons: senior business executives, oligarchs, regulators, prosecuting authorities, professional bodies, shareholders, multinational corporations, private equity groups, banks, traders, foreign governments, sovereign wealth funds, journalists and media organisations. He is sought after for his advice during the investigatory stages and for heavyweight trial work. His business crime practice is a healthy combination of advisory, trial and appellate work. He is also increasingly in demand in cases where criminal and civil issues intersect e.g. Commercial Court cases where there are parallel criminal investigations or proceedings.

His practice frequently involves international and cross-border issues e.g. multijurisdictional investigations, extradition, Interpol Red Notices and sanctions. He acts for requested persons and foreign governments. He has experience of criminal cases from many diverse jurisdictions e.g. USA, Russia, Ukraine, France, Jersey, Iceland, Greece, the Middle East and a number of Caribbean countries. He is recommended as one of the Best Fraud Lawyers in the UK in the Global Best Lawyers directory and a 'Thought Leader' for Investigations and Criminal Fraud in Who's Who Legal.

He is a contributing author to various leading textbooks on criminal law and fraud. He is on the Serious Fraud Office's QC list.
